

PROJECT.....Swimming Pool Building

An extension to a Victorian house to provide an indoor swimming pool, changing room, and boiler room. The building was designed architecturally as a garden pavilion at one end of a formal lawn. A careful foundation design was required, to avoid damage to the mature sycamore tree which was a significant feature in the garden. The pool environment internally is fully controlled to protect the structure from condensation.

